BROMFIELD ANNIVERSARY WEEK

SAT. 11/13 & SUN. 11/14
4050 Bromfield Road, Lucas // 419-892-2784
11 a.m. and 2 p.m. // Big House Tours at Malabar Farm State Park (Small charge for tour)
Visit the place that inspired Bromfield’s dream of sustainable agriculture

SUN. 11/14
310 Springmill Street, Mansfield // 419-524-1765
2-5 p.m. // Oak Hill Cottage Tours (Small charge for tour)
Visit the focal point of Louis Bromfield’s first novel, The Green Bay Tree

TUES. 11/16
Founders Auditorium at Ohio State Mansfield // 419-755-4276
6:30 p.m. // Public Screening of the WOSU Documentary
Louis Bromfield: The Man Who Had Everything
8:15 p.m. // Virtual discussion with Anneliese Abbot, author of the soon-to-be published text: Malabar Farm: Louis Bromfield, Friends of the Land, and the Rise of Sustainable Agriculture

WED. 11/17
Noon // Display of rarely-seen original Bromfield materials from
The Ohio State Rare Books and Manuscripts Library

THURS. 11/18
Founders Auditorium at Ohio State Mansfield // 419-755-4276
7 p.m. // Staged Reading of De Luxe, a rarely-seen play by Louis Bromfield and John Gearon Presented in cooperation with The Malabar Farm Foundation

SAT. 11/20
Mansfield Richland County Public Library, 43 W 3rd St., Mansfield // 419-521-3100
2:30 p.m. // Viewing of Johnny Come Lately, a 1943 film starring James Cagney based on Bromfield’s novel McLeod’s Folly
In partnership with the Malabar Farm Foundation, Mansfield Richland County Public Library and WOSU

CONARD HALL, originally known as Bromfield Hall, was opened for use in 1976 at The Ohio State University at Mansfield. The building, named in honor of Pulitzer Prize-winning author, renowned conservationist, and Mansfield native Louis Bromfield, is home to the Bromfield Library and Information Commons. Join us in celebrating the 125th anniversary of Louis Bromfield’s birth.